"The beautiful thing about learning is that no one can take it away"

Involving parents in the education of students is crucial to the latter's success. For promoting students' success and well-being, these partnerships between the 'stakeholders' are important. By focusing more on fostering personal connections, the school and parents can work together to provide the students a stronger support system helping everyone to make better decisions.

To promote parent engagement, we need to learn about the families associated with our schools. The first thing for consideration is to make an initial connection, frequent parent-teacher meetings, have thorough discussions on their needs and expectations and then develop the solution prioritizing their preferences. It is very important to identify the real barriers in the growth of the children and fix them to avoid any collapses in future. Knowing the challenges will help schools to develop effective strategies to deal with any possible challenges and also help in the formation of improved connections with parents.

Today, parental engagement in education matters more than ever. With the help of technology and a little effort by both the school and the parents, students can be trained to face their future challenges with confidence and efficiency.

Dear Parents,

Playing outside allows kids to develop more advanced motor skills than children who spend most of their time indoors, including agility, balance, and coordination.

The fresh air and playing games rejuvenate them. Viewing the green spaces (based on trees, grass, flowers, etc.) is a great stress buster for any human.

As students will visit a zoo and see their favorite animals, they will realize just how important it is to take care of the environment. Moreover, zoos also teach children about things like conservation and animal care.

As the children of pre-primary will be visiting Gopalpur Zoo, kindly note the following:

- Date of picnic- 3rd November, 2023 (Friday)
- Students will report to school at the usual school timing.
- Kindly send your ward in proper uniform with a school I-card.
- Send picnic tiffin (dry tiffin), a tetra pack juice, tissue papers and water bottle.
- A proper handkerchief or a small hand towel should be there in the bag. Students may carry a cap.

“The beautiful thing about learning is that no one can take it away”

Involving parents in the education of students is crucial to the latter's success. For promoting students' success and well-being, these partnerships between the 'stake holders' are important. By focusing more on fostering personal connections, the school and parents can work together to provide the students a stronger support system helping everyone to make better decisions.

To promote parent engagement, we need to learn about the families associated with our schools. The first thing for consideration is to make an initial connection, frequent parent-teacher meetings, have thorough discussions on their needs and expectations and then develop the solution prioritizing their preferences. It is very important to identify the real barriers in the growth of the children and fix them to avoid any collapses in future. Knowing the challenges will help schools to develop effective strategies to deal with any possible challenges and also help in the formation of improved connections with parents.

Today, parental engagement in education matters more than ever. With the help of technology and a little effort by both the school and the parents, students can be trained to face their future challenges with confidence and efficiency.

DPS Kangra cordially invites you to the first PTM of the academic session 2024-2025 to be held on 04th May 2024. This meeting will be about the academic, behavioural and academic well-being of your ward and to clarify any of your related queries or concerns. Looking forward to see you.
